Question 29 – 34 are based on the following passage.

It is natural to like sweets and it is okay to enjoy them as an occasional treat, but it is vital to keep consumption to a minimum. Most sweets contain refined sugar. Not only does refined sugar cause problems with our blood sugar level, but it also uses up stored resources within our body (such as minerals and enzymes) in order for it to be processed. In addition there are many negative health effects that sugar contributes to, including hypoglycaemia, suppression of the immune system, arthritis, diabetes, osteoporosis, headaches, and depression.

Choose sweet treats that are home-made or have naturally occurring sugar, such as fruits. Try making your favourite dessert with half or one-third less sugar than usual. Make dessert a special event once a week. Many foods have naturally occurring sugars, such as fruits, vegetables, grains and beans. Incorporate naturally sweet foods into your diet to help cut down on sweets. Strawberries, apples, sweet potatoes or winter squash are all great options.

Avoid or severely limit sugary drinks – they are an easy way to pack calories and chemicals into your diet without even noticing it. One 12-oz soda has about 10 teaspoons of sugar in it! Just because a soda is sugar-free, it doesn’t mean that it is healthy. Recent studies have shown that artificial sugar substitutes, used in soft drinks, may interfere with your body’s natural regulatory system. This may result in you overindulging in other sweet foods and beverages.

34. All of the following statements are true except
   A  Sugar substitutes in soft drinks are unhealthy.
   B  Naturally sweet food can help us cut down on sweets.
   C  Refined sugar stores minerals and enzymes in our body.
   D  Naturally incurring sugar can be found in fruits and vegetables.
The Lake Isle of Innisfree

I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree,
And a small cabin build there, of clay and wattles made.
Nine bean-rows will I have there, a hive for the honey bee
And live alone in the bee-loud glade.

And I shall have some peace there, for peace comes dropping slow.
Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the crickets sing:
There midnight's all a glimmer, and noon a purple glow
And evening full of the linnet's wings.

I will arise and go now, for always night and day
I hear lake water lapping with low sounds by the shore
While I stand on the roadway, or on the pavements grey.
I hear it in the deep heart's core.

William Butler Yeats

   D. disappointment
Questions 38 – 40 are based on the extract from the short story The Pencil.

After recess Mr Jamal returned to the classroom. His pupils saw him coming and quickly scrambled to their desks. They sat there quietly, their noisy chatter turned to silence.

He stopped in front of the door, glanced over the classroom, and then slowly entered. His heavy footsteps attracted the children’s attention. From the corners of their eyes, they stared at his shiny, black shoes with a curiosity that could not be satisfied.

“Stand up,” the class monitor called out and everyone stood up. Some of the pupils were leaning to one side, others were doubled over, and some were standing on one foot, while still others were half-sitting and half-standing. One pupil continued munching on the piece of cake he had stuffed into his mouth.

“Good morning, sir!” The classroom echoed with the voices of the thirty-five pupils.

“Good morning! Now sit down and take out your geography books.” The narrow classroom was steaming hot and the overcrowded conditions made it even worse. Already a variety of odours was noticeable.

38. From the extract, we can conclude that Mr Jamal was probably a ________ teacher.
   A strict
   B gentle
   C kind-hearted
   D hard-working

39. How do you think the pupils reacted to Mr Jamal?
   A They were friendly towards him.
   B They were terrified of him.
   C They respected him.
   D They hated him.

40. The phrase overcrowded conditions suggests that
   A the classroom was very narrow and dark.
   B the variety of odours made the classroom crowded.
   C the classroom was too small for the number of pupils.
   D the pupils from other classes were also in the classroom.

Section A: Guided Writing
[30 marks]

Your sister left two months ago to take up a job in another state. In her last letter home, she sounds very homesick and has expressed her desire to leave her job and come home. Using the notes below, write a letter to your sister.

- cheer her up and give her encouragement
- tell her the latest news about the family
- assure her you are taking great care of her orchid garden
- convince her she should not give up a good job and
- promise to pay her a visit during the coming school holidays.

When writing out your letter:

- you may use all the notes
- elaborate on the given notes to make it more interesting
- add any other relevant information
- make sure it is not less than 120 words
Nourishing yourself by eating well comes down to loving food. The key lies in finding a balance between enjoying food for pleasure or comfort and for other emotional reasons. This means staying nourished for good physical health.

Essentially, food is fuel. Without a steady supply of quality nutrients, the body can never achieve an optimal mental and physical state.

Learning to eat well does not have to be complicated. Supply your body with sufficient food and water regularly throughout the day. No matter how amazing a meal you consume, your energy level will decrease about four hours later.

When putting meals together, you should emphasize on fresh vegetables and fruits accompanied by reasonable protein serving and a high-quality grain portion. Use between-meal snacks with an opportunity to include items that may be missed at mealtimes such as fruits, yogurt or perhaps nuts.

Instead of aiming to avoid fat entirely, focus on choosing high quality fat and oil such as fish, olive oil or nuts and seeds in place of lower quality and highly-saturated fat. Limit your overall intake and you do not have to necessarily avoid salt, sugar and caffeine completely.

Write a summary on the ways of eating well.

Your summary must:

- not be more than 60 words, including the 10 words given below.
- be in continuous writing (not in note form)
- be written in one paragraph

Use your own words as far as possible without changing its original meaning.

Begin your summary as follows:

In eating well, find a balance between eating for pleasure...
The following are the novels studied in the literature component in English Language.

1. Potato People - Angela Wright
2. Robinson Crusoe - Daniel Dafoe
3. The Phantom of The Opera - Gaston Leroux
4. Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde - Robert Louis Stevenson
5. The Prisoner of Zenda - Anthony Hope Hawkins

Based on one of the novels above, write about a significant event in the story. Provide evidence from the text to support your answer.

Your response should be:

- not less than 50 words
- in continuous writing (not in note form)
